Before there were the Law of Attraction: The Science of Attracting More of What You Want and Less of What You Don't Want, and The Science of Success: How to Attract Prosperity and Create Harmonic Wealth Through Proven Principles, there were The Science of Getting Rich, As a Man Thinketh, and Thoughts are Things. These are the works that first introduced the world to the power of positive thinking. Wallace D. Wattles, James Allen, and Prentice Mulford pioneered the concepts that Michael Losier and James Arthur Ray would later rework for a new generation. Now you can have all three landmark works in one volume and begin to think yourself rich!

About the Author Wallace Delois Wattles (1860-1911) was the author of numerous books, the best known of which is "The Science of Getting Rich". He experienced failure after failure in his early life until after many years of study and experimentation he formulated a set of principles that, with scientific precision, create financial and spiritual wealth. He died a prosperous man in 1911. Born in 1864 in England, James Allen took his first job at fifteen to support his family. Allen worked as a factory knitter and later a private secretary before writing his first book, "From Poverty to Power", in 1901. In 1903 he completed his best-known work: "As a Man Thinketh". Allen wrote nineteen books, including his spiritual journal, "The Light of Reason," before he died at age forty-seven in 1912. While not widely known during his lifetime, Allen later came to be seen as a pioneer of contemporary inspirational literature.
