

[Download] Thirsty Nation: Priorities for India's Water Sector

Thirsty Nation: Priorities for India's Water Sector

Joseph P Quinlan, Sumantra Sen, Kiran Nanda
DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#4019268 in eBooks 2014-02-11 2014-02-11 File Name: B00I91RURS | File size: 79.Mb

Joseph P Quinlan, Sumantra Sen, Kiran Nanda : Thirsty Nation: Priorities for India's Water Sector before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Thirsty Nation:
Priorities for India's Water Sector:

Water is the most precious natural resource in the world—far ahead of oil and minerals. Blue Gold not only analyses the impending water crisis to hit the world and more importantly India;but also explores the investment opportunities possible in the water sector. Presented in the book are innovative, cutting edge ways to combat the water crisis and ways of investing in the right projects. The roles of technology, finance, and a general view of domestic and foreign investment in water are explored by the authors and practical and lucrative financial advice is offered making it an important book in the present ecological and financial environment.

About the Author Joseph P. Quinlan is Managing Director and the Chief Market Strategist of Bank of America, Global Wealth and Investment Management, in New York. He is the author, co-author, editor or contributor to over a dozen books. He has published over 125 articles on international economics and trade. He has also served as a consultant to the U.S. Department of State. Sumantra Sen is the Founder CEO at Responsible Investment Research Association. He is also the Managing Partner at ESGalier Advisors LLP. Kiran Nanda is a Corporate Economic and Sustainability consultant who till recently has been Director at Indian Merchant s Chamber-Economic Research Training Foundation (IMC-ERTF). She also served as Senior Economist in Tata s Economics and Statistics Dept for over 16 years.